F L Y E R

August 2010

Fairmount's Diversity Statement:

As beloved children of God, we welcome all persons to join our family of faith as full participants, regardless of age, race or ethnicity, national origin, gender, marital status, sexual orientation, mental or physical ability, economic status, differences of thought and expression, or any other human condition. We celebrate and find strength in our diversity.

Fairmount's Mission Statement:

Our mission is to worship God, to seek the way of Christ, to grow as an inviting, caring and challenging community of adults, youth and children, in response to God's unconditional love that transcends all human distinctions and summons us to make a difference in the world.

From Your Pastor

I loved that new African chant we sang this morning! Why don't we ever sing the good old hymns??! The service just didn't do anything for me at all. You were speaking directly to me today. I felt God's presence in a powerful way. I don't like it when we say the creeds; they're from another time and they don't express my beliefs anymore! I feel irritated every time I hear people change the words of the Doxology to make them "politically correct." What's wrong with God the Father?! I really connect to God in the silence after the prayer of confession. I really connect to God before the service begins as the congregation is happily greeting one another. Having the words of hymns and scripture text on screens is a great idea! It lifts our heads up out of the hymnals and helps us sing better. Don't change a single thing! If things don't change, I'm outta here!

Part of Fairmount's wonderful diversity shows up in our worship preferences. We feel drawn to the Divine through different ways and means, and what one of us finds inspiring leaves another cold. The design of our worship spaces, the sincerity of our greeting, the ease of navigating to the nursery and restrooms and coffee hour, the acceptance of infants and children----all these factors and many others shape people's worship experience even before the service begins.

Nothing is more important, and nothing captures more of your ministers' attention than does worship preparation. I care so much about the worship experience and attendance because to me the worship of God forms the heart of a faith community, and informs every other part of our mission. Contrary to what we sometimes think, the worship leaders do not "perform" before an audience known as the congregation. Rather, the worship leaders seek to express the hopes, dreams, needs, questions, cutting edges, and assumptions of the congregation, guided by Scripture and the Reformed theological tradition, and animated by the Holy Spirit, which we all offer to God as we participate in worship.

Though we were not able to introduce a new contemporary service this Fall, we are committed to worship that is welcoming and accessible to all. Though we value traditional excellence, we'll continue to plan services that include newer hymns, spiritual songs, and multicultural music, broaden our use of media (projecting words and images on screens), and engage persons of all ages and faith experience. Currently, you can hear podcasts of the sermon and choir anthem from our website. We are also developing on-line worship resources that could help you worship with us when you can't physically be present on Sunday morning.

Here are a few suggestions to enhance your experience of worship:

About Outdoor Worship

The beauty of the natural world prompts our praise to the Creator. Weather permitting, we'll continue to worship outdoors on August 22. Music will be provided by church members and friends accompanied by acoustic guitar, keyboard, and other instruments. Feel free to dress casually.

Children in Worship

As I hope all of you know, in the fall of 2011 we will begin a new practice in the life of our church. We will begin worshipping each week with children of all ages. This change will mean that our children in the 1st – 6th grades will be worshipping with us each and every week instead of just on the first Sundays of the month. To help our children, their families and all of our members prepare for this transition we will be offering opportunities THIS year for Fairmount members to gather and learn more about children's spirituality and how it can enrich our communal life. These opportunities will be offered on the first Sunday of each month during the Sunday morning Adult Church School hour (9:45 – 10:45). We hope you will join us for these important conversations.

Year of the Bible

What Bible Should I use for the Year of the Bible program?

This is a REALLY great question and one that will make a difference as you read the Bible this year. There are so many Bibles out there right now. It can be confusing to find the right one for you. If you are looking to get a new Bible for this endeavor there are a number of standard versions available that will serve you well.

The New Revised Standard Version (NRSV) is the translation we use in worship here at Fairmount. This is helpful because it will sound familiar to you as you read it. This version also makes use of really excellent scholarship, is up-to-date and fairly straightforward to read.

We would not recommend using the King James Version (KJV). Even though some people believe it is the most beautiful of all the English translations, its language is antiquated and difficult to understand and process.

If you are planning to buy a new Bible we would recommend a good NRSV Study Bible. The Study Bibles will have really helpful notes and comments in them that will be helpful to you as you seek to understand the text of the stories better. If you have any questions about the Bible you plan to use, please feel free to talk with any of your pastors about it. We would be happy to help you find a good Bible that will support you as you read through its pages this year.

Clerk's Corner

I thought that I was done with education. Then along comes the Faith Formation Council, launched as part of Vision 100, telling me that they are expanding educational opportunities at Fairmount because it is good for me. Don't they know that I have mouths to feed, a career to pursue, and friendships to cultivate. How could more education be good for me?

Perhaps the word "education" is misleading. I have heard from Pastor Louise that spiritual growth is an active, not a passive, passion. I have also heard that spiritual growth in a fellowship community allows participants to touch each other's lives. And I know from experience that education is an unscripted exploration, not a cookie-cutter prescription. So perhaps worship and private devotions, as important as they are, can be fruitfully augmented. Perhaps being a Christian invites a more sustained consideration of my place in God's Kingdom and a willingness to share my explorations with others. Could it be that Fairmount is on to something, making exploration in fellowship an integral part of this faith community – a kind of free bonus of Fairmount membership?

If so, a fundamental change is going on here. Perhaps what the Faith Formation Council is thinking is that the more I work on developing and retaining a picture of myself as a child of God, the stronger I am to pursue my life's work. I think that I will give it a try.

Peter Gerhart

Clerk of Session

Men's Breakfast Forum

Meets the first and third Wednesday morning each month at 7:30 am in the Ganson Room for a light breakfast, fellowship and discussion of the Christian faith in response to daily living. This group is always open to new participants. Articles for discussion this month:

📖 Wednesday, August 4th – "Living in a Material World," Michael L. Lindvall (Christian Century, July 13, 2010)

📖 Wednesday, August 18th – "Gusher: Six Ways to Prevent Another Disaster," Laurent Belsie (Christian Science Monitor, July 12, 2010)

Beyond Acceptance

This support group for individuals and families who are dealing with issues of gender and sexual identity and the Christian church's acceptance of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgendered persons regularly meets on the fourth Tuesday each month. We are not meeting in August but will resume on Tuesday, September 28th at 5:30 PM in Chilcote North. If you have questions or need further information, please contact Dick Clewell at (216)321-5800, ext. 109.

From Your Pastor

1) Pray. Pray for the worship leaders, including musicians and preacher. Pray that God will help you receive the Word God intends for you.

2) Participate. Join in the songs and prayers and passing the peace. Some people like to read along silently as the Scripture text is read; others simply like to listen. The Psalmist encourages us to "make a joyful noise before the Lord" but even if you don't sing, read the words—hymns are often chosen because they reflect the theme or Scripture of the day.

3) Recognize that different worship practices speak to people. If a sermon or prayer or hymn didn't touch you this week, trust that it was meaningful to someone. And come back next week with expectation that God will meet you there.

4) Reach out to fellow worshipers. Try sitting near other worshipers. Greet those around you. Though we try to make our bulletin "user friendly," assist worshipers who may not understand it.

5) Share your thoughts and ideas and suggestions. You can provide input to any upcoming sermon on Pastor Louise's blog Thoroughly PostModern Minister. Go to Fairmount's website, click on "Pastor's Blog" and scroll through the schedule. Click on whichever one(s) you want to discuss and enter your comments. NEW this Fall: give feedback on sermons after they've been preached at <http://fpctalkback.wordpress.com>.

6) Practice. Worship is counter-cultural, and unlike any other activity of our lives. We learn to worship by worshiping! Hope to see you regularly in worship at Fairmount!

Yours in Faith,

Louise

Adult Education Options

NEW CHURCH SCHOOL HOURS

We invite YOU to join us for one of our great new classes that will begin this fall.

Celebration Sunday - September 12th

Combined Adult Education Class in the Chapel

Topic: Why do we say the Bible is authoritative? It was written so long ago! How are we supposed to make sense of all these stories?

Bible Study Class

Join us on September 19th as we join scholars, Marcus Borg and John Dominic Crossan, on location in Turkey as they trace the Apostle Paul's footsteps throughout the Roman Empire. Using the video series Eclipsing Empire: Paul, Rome, and the Kingdom of God we will explore how Paul's ministry continues to shape our journey of faith.

Soul Center

Beginning on September 19th you are invited to join other members of your Fairmount family as we explore issues and practices of spirituality in our daily lives. We begin the class with a discussion of faith as it is expressed in art. This will be followed by a discussion of spirituality active and present in a short story. On the first Sunday of every month this class will focus on issues and practices of spirituality relating to the children in our midst.

Year of the Bible

Each week we will gather together for a discussion of the week's readings and prepare ourselves for what's to come. We encourage you to come to class with your questions from the week's readings. What did that passage mean? Who is that character? Let's talk about it and together we can help each other put the pieces together.

Issues and Faith

Have you ever wondered what your faith says to issues going on in the world? Join us for conversations surrounding issues and faith. We will begin with Creationism vs. Evolution which will be followed by the Middle East Peace Process and our Christian response. This class will be team taught by youth and adults. We hope you will join us.

Women's Book Study

This group meets every Sunday morning at 9:45. We spend time gathering and catching up, so that we usually begin discussing our book by 10:00 am. The book to be discussed is chosen by the group by consensus.
